Introduction

The Holy Spirit Hospital Maternity Unit has been receiving financial aid from Amici Italian towards the salary support for Dr Emmanuel Eilu (OBGYN). This support has contributed to the strength of the maternity department's ability to provide consistent, high-quality clinical care to mothers and newborns.

This quarterly report explains how your support (salary support for the OBGYN) contributed to service continuity and improved maternity care during 1st April – 31st July 2026. We are especially grateful because a stable medical workforce is essential to ensuring that women receive skilled attendance during delivery and appropriate care throughout the maternity period. During this period, the funds you provided covered the Doctor's salary in the Maternity Unit (OBGYN) at Holy Spirit Hospital. This support helped ensure that the maternity unit had continuous access to:

- A qualified doctor for clinical oversight and decision-making
- Skilled attendance during deliveries
- Timely assessment and treatment of maternity patients
- Guidance for safe maternity practices and proper clinical management in the ward

Without this support, the maternity unit would face gaps that could affect clinical supervision, delivery management, and overall service reliability.

What do these figures mean?

The results above demonstrate that throughout the quarter, the maternity unit provided ongoing care for patients and effectively managed deliveries without requiring referrals. This reflects improved service continuity and strengthened capacity to respond to maternity needs within the facility.

Your support directly strengthened maternity care by ensuring the maternity doctor's availability. This improved several aspects of care quality:

A. Improved Continuity of Skilled Clinical Care

Because the maternity doctor was supported financially to remain available, the maternity unit maintained consistent clinical supervision and skilled support. This is particularly important for maternity services, where timely decisions and appropriate management during labour and delivery can influence outcomes for both mother and baby.

B. Better Delivery Readiness and Management

The doctor's presence enabled the maternity team to better prepare for and manage deliveries as they came in. With the doctor available, the team could focus on safe delivery practices and appropriate clinical management throughout the delivery process. Deliveries were attended successfully during the quarter, with no referrals during this period, indicating that cases managed in-house were handled effectively

C. Safer and More Reliable Patient Experience

Mothers and families benefit when maternity services operate reliably. When medical leadership and clinical decision-making are consistent, patients are less likely to experience delays or uncertainty and more likely to receive timely care. Maternity patients received care within the maternity unit during this quarter, and Service delivery proceeded without referral-related disruptions

Brief Patient Care Example

During the quarter, many mothers were received for antenatal care, labour/delivery, and post-delivery support. With the doctor supported through your funding, clinical assessments and delivery management were carried out promptly. As a result, deliveries that occurred during this period were managed within Holy Spirit Hospital's maternity services, contributing to the recorded outcome of 0 referrals.

Challenges Encountered

Even with your support, we continue to face operational challenges typical for maternity services, including:

- Limited resources for continuous scaling of maternity services
- The ongoing need to ensure stable staffing and clinical coverage
- High demand for maternity care in Makeni and surroundings.

However, the salary support provided helped reduce the risk of service interruptions and supported the maternity unit to continue operating effectively.

Plans for Next Quarter (1 August – 30 November 2026)

Over the next quarter, the maternity unit will continue to rely on your support to maintain stable doctor coverage and ensure the maternity service remains effective and reliable.

Planned priorities:

- Continue doctor availability for clinical leadership in the maternity unit
- Maintain skilled attendance during deliveries
- Continue monitoring maternity patients and supporting safe clinical practices
- Strengthen coordination of patient care pathways to avoid preventable delays

If additional support is provided by Amici Italy, we will also consider expanding resources that complement doctor coverage (for example: essential maternity supplies and infection prevention needs), depending on your focus.

Closing

The Management of Holy Spirit Hospital wishes to thank you for partnering with Holy Spirit Hospital to improve maternity services in Makeni, Sierra Leone.
